

Steps to Harmony

A Systematic Approach to Sight-Singing Middle school through college

Unison, 2-part and 3-part—all voicings

This series was designed to be useful in all teaching situations, transcending both age and sex. The range is limited to one octave—C to C—so everyone sings in a comfortable range throughout.

Beginning with stepwise, diatonic quarter notes, this series puts you in control of how far your students progress. Its flexible, modular design allows you to concentrate on just the levels of complexity you want—ideal for use in a music curriculum spanning several grade levels.

- Written polyphonically, so every part is melodious.
- Great for developing part independence.
- Virtually all keys are represented

Each exercise is written to be performed in any of three ways: unison, 2-part, or 3-part. The top two lines of each exercise are designed for 2-part singing. Each exercise also can be sung in any 3-part voicing: SSA, SAB, STB, TTB, etc. Since the lines of each exercise are interchangeable, each exercise can be sung three times—each voice singing a different line each time. An optional bass clef version allows basses to participate fully in the exercises.

Adaptable to any voice combination, this could be the most useful and versatile sight-reading purchase you've ever made.
